PERSONALS.

Persons in town having visitors or any other item they would like in this column would confer a favor if they would inform this office. The town is not very large, but one hand can't get all over it every day and run a newspaper.

H. P. Taylor, returned from the convention via Chicago.

Mr. Wilbur H. Hayward, of Sulphur Springs, a former student of Hartford College, gave us a visit Tuesday.

We were glad to see our old friend W. T. Bean, of Sulphur Spring in town Tuesday. He will come off to-morrow.

Dr. L. G. Arnold and wife of Massillon, were visiting the doctor's father's family near Hartford during the past week.

L. R. Becker, Esq., leaves today for Caneyville, to assist H. E. Arnold in a job of house carpentering, and will be absent some time.

We are glad to see our old friend J. B. Horn, of Danville, who is a member student of Hartford College, with his hope he will remain over several days.

Messrs E. D. Guffy and C. M. Pendleton, left yesterday for Lexington, Ky., to attend the State Convention, to be held there by the Republicans, commencing to-day.

Our friend M. A. Dixon, of the shoe house of Bamberg, Streng & Co., Louisville was in town last Thursday. He was supremely happy when the wife announced Knott's nomination.

Henry F. Arnold, of this place, the bass carpenter of Western Kentucky, was here last week and left Sunday for Caneyville where he will erect a handsome residence for Harlin Wilson, then he will go to Lewisville and build a mill for Edgar Bennett. He had just completed a nice residence in Massillon for his son, Dr. L. G. Arnold. He is a first class workman, and has contracts in advance always waiting for him.

Hill's Hair and Whisker Dye, 50c.
Pike's Toothache Drops cure in one minute.
Custom made shoes and boots at Z. A. Rosenberg's.

You can get a sewing machine of S. B. Bishop at $10 to $50.

Our old friend G. C. Westerfield, was in town this week, and paid the HERALD office a visit. He has been engaged in sign and house painting, and paper hanging. He has done some work here, and is engaged at present in Beaver Dam. We understand that his work gives entire satisfaction.

Remember you can buy a good sewing machine with cover for $20 at Anderson's Bazaar.

—Don't fail to see the fun at Anderson's Bazaar next week.

—The wheat crop is coming out most wonderfully.

—Gov. R. U. Alexander filled his regular appointment here Sunday last at eleven o'clock and at night.

—Anderson's Bazaar will give more for washed wool than you can get in Louisville. This is no advertising trick but an actual fact.

—The Red Front is still ahead of all competition in the way of groceries, family supplies, country produce, etc. They keep a fresh and full assortment all the time.

—A name sake and relative of one's, Mr. Barrett, near Whitesville, Daviess county, had a fine horse to runaway, and kill himself last week. The horse was valued at $175.

—We take pride in calling the attention of our readers to the Serial Story, by Doll Crow. She evinces the talent of an author, and we are very grateful for any thing that she may favor our readers with.

—G. W. Gordon, of Cool Springs district, has invented a corn sheller, for which he has obtained a patent. He claims that a bushel of corn can be shelled in ten minutes, that it will last three years with ordinary care. Price, $1; county and State rights for sale. A specimen sheller can be seen at this office.

—Messrs. Henry and Albert Arnold, of Hines' Mill, last week sold to Messrs. Leach and Gray, of Cromwell, eighty hogs and delivered them at Beaver Dam last Thursday. Some of the hogs weighed over 400 pounds and their average weight was 265 pounds. The price paid was 5, 5 1/2 and 6 cents, a large majority of them selling at 6 cents and aggregated $988. They had been fed on top of Hines' distillery.

—The Hartford Base Ball Club, under Capt. Weller, is about organized. Pendleton and Griffin will be the regular battery. Guffy, of Morgantown, the phenomenal relief-pitcher, and a hard hitter, thanks to our aide and watchful captain, has signed for the season. The new uniforms are handsome and quite aesthetic. The team promises to be a strong one. They will play their first game, with a picked nine, at Fair Ground Park Sunday evening.

—A tramp, calling himself Jim King, stopped last Friday night at the residence of the late S. Woodward, and would work the next day to pay for his lodging. He found out that the family would all leave next evening. So he left Saturday morning and went back Saturday night and robbed the house taking about $10 out of Miss Esther's trunk and some valuable notes. He came to Hartford that night and registered at the Hartford House as Joe. Winn, Canada. He left here Monday, and on the road near No Creek Church he met Clayton Woodward coming in to get a writ for him. He had his hair trimmed while here and Woodward did not know him from the description but when he got here he was satisfied that he had met him, and got the Sheriff and lit out after him. Up to this writing they have not caught him that we know. The notes are dated April 25th, 1883, and one of them is on B. F. McCormick for about $80 and the other on Simpson Barnett for about $42, both executed to Miss Esther Woodward.

—THOUGH April showers and the sunshine of May have called forth the green grass and kissed the sweet flowers in this beautiful spring time of 1883, yet the storm king of the north has again ruthlessly invaded the homes of the roses, blew his icy breath on the wild flowers by the meadow stream, and attempted to arrest the tide of happy people that daily crowd the streets of our town as they hurry on to Anderson's Bazaar to secure the bargains that are daily offered at this popular resort. But the crowd of anxious people still crowd on, and last week witnessed the busiest time the Bazaar has had since its opening here. Yet large as their business was then, next week bids fair to surpass anything ever dreamed of in a business way in Hartford. The arrangements have all been made, the bargains will all be here, and we venture to assert that goods will be sold cheaper next week than ever before in the history of Hartford. Those who fail to visit the Bazaar will regret it the longest day they live.

—Don't fail to visit the Bazaar when you come to court next week.

—All-wool jeans and cotton cheap at Z. A. Rosenberg's.

—Born, To the wife of Wm. Pirtle, May 20th, 1881, a son.

—If you want ladies hats or dress goods, call on S. B. Bishop. Assignee.

—Call and see those new farm wagons and buggies for sale at King's stable.

—You can sell your wool on better terms at Anderson's Bazaar than at any place else in the Green River country.

—We gladly welcome our genial friend, Mr. Warren Griffin, home again after an absence of several weeks in Elizabethtown.

—A man has just died of remorse at Sulphur Springs for not buying a White Sewing Machine for his wife last month. You can get them only at Anderson's Bazaar.

—E. J. Dannelly, is meeting with considerable encouragement in the marriage business here. He is the man to make it a success and can and no doubt will succeed.

—There never was such a rage for white dresses as there is this year. Anderson's Bazaar will offer 500 yards white India linen next week at 12 1/2 to 25 cents per yard.

—Park Haynes, of color, living near Pleasant Ridge, owns a mare that has twin milks. The colts are the same color and sex. Uncle Park is a well-to-do farmer, and will do a good part by the little kickers.

—We were glad to grasp the hand of our old friend, H. Small, once more. He returned last Sunday after quite a stay in New York. He "let it" in this issue shows where he has been and what he has been doing. Call and see his goods.

—The survivors of the 11th Kentucky regiment are hereby called to meet in reunion on the 4th day of July, 1883, at Young's Mills, 4 miles south of Morgantown, on the Morgantown and Russellville road. By E. F. Kimball, Maj.

—Remember, that King's stable is the cheapest and best place in town to get your horse fed. When you come to court next week give him a call. Special rates given to jurymen's horses. Horses boarded by the day or week at the very lowest rates.

—Mr. Frank L. Felix, School Commissioner, can be found at the HERALD office until after Circuit Court. He occupies the Grand Jury room and has also vacated it during Court. He will also assist us in editing and publishing the HERALD while officing with us.

—Died—Thursday, May 17th, 1883, at 11 o'clock, p. m., at her residence, near Sacramento, Melan county, Mrs. Jane Eaves, widow of the late Judge Saunders Eaves. —Miss Mary Tucker, of Fordsville district, and Miss Mattie Hagerman and her brother, Joe Hagerman, living a few miles above Hartford, passed through here last Thursday on a pleasure trip to Louisville and Owensboro. The young ladies let the sunshine of their countenances dispel the gloom of the editor's office for a short while, for which we are grateful.

—Lost—May 1st, '83, my dead-head book. I will charge 50 cents for each passenger to and from Beaver Dam and must have the pay when the work is done until I find that book, due notice of which will be given. P. S.—I am not offering a reward to the finder of said book.

JOHN S. VAUGHT, Prop. Beaver Dam Stage Line.

Wanted
25,000 lbs. of wool by July to fulfill a contract.

—New buggies or wagons exchanged for horses, corn, oats or soil low for cash at King's stable. Call and see them.

—Owing to the lateness of the season, I will close out my spring and summer stock at low figures. Call and examine them. Z. A. Rosenberg.

—If our gardeners would try the cans for cabbage plants like the tobacco raisers do for tobacco, they would be more successful.

—Thomas Tilford, proprietor of Tilford's Restaurant is prepared to take care of jurymen litigants or witnesses during Circuit Court. Good fare at reasonable prices.

—Gents' furnishing goods, consisting of shirts, underwear, collars, ties, cuffs, gloves, etc. Best to be had only at Z. A. Rosenberg's.

—Tobacco plants have been damaged by the cool spells and bugs, save where they have been covered by canvases, which protects them.

—Mr. W. C. Chapman is wearing a broad Proctor Knott smile, and Col. W. H. Moore also took a "smile" at the result on his return home.

—Tobacco plants that have been covered with canvases, are almost universally good, while those not thus protected, are in many instances ruined by the cool weather or bugs.

—Died, at her home a few miles East of Hartford, Wednesday May 16th, 1883, Mrs. Missouri Likens, wife of Marion Likens. She died shouting and perfectly happy. Her remains were interred in the Bethel church yard.

—Here again, with a pointed quill, Or slanting pencil if you choose, To say we're in business still, Setting cheap clothing hats and shoes, A choice stock of dry goods too, Fancy notions of every kind, Nothing charged for showing you through, Just call and see the undersigned, Thos. ## The Dark-Browed Araucal

Has again visited our town and claimed another of our loved ones, Mrs. Sallie A. Taylor, wife of the late Rev. James Taylor. Mrs. Sallie Morris was born Dec. 18th, 1791, in Prince Ann county, Virginia; was married to Rev. James Taylor, Dec. 18th, 1811, and moved early to Harlinburg, Breckinridge county, Ky., where they lived until after her husband's death. Since then, she has made her home here with her daughter, Mrs. H. D. McHargue. The sad event occurred Monday, May 21st, 1883, at 9 o'clock, A. M. She lived an exemplary christian. Her heart turned in reverential love and worship to Him who doeth all things well, and from her higher, faithful trust, came the sunlight of that pure religion which illumined her daily life. The latest struggle of her door was always on the outside for strangers as well as friends; her motto, "Those that entertain strangers, entertain angels unaware." Her neat and tastefully arranged home was adorned by the cultivation of flowers, which rendered it quite attractive for the young. In fact, her sunny presence was the charm of the home that united so much personal loveliness, intellectual culture and refinement of taste in a being beneath our conception of angelic perfection. Just a few hours after the close of her long and well spent life, we stood by the downy couch, prepared by loving hands, and looked upon the calm, sweet face in the fleecy folds of her cap and tie, but with no feeling of sadness, for oh, how beautiful in death was this dreamless sleeper, with the lingering influence of a pleasant, happy smile as the angels kissed her spirit away. No wonder that the radiance still lingered. It was the reunion of a loving husband and dear ones, the fullest realization of a christian's hope. Yesterday afternoon, tender hands gently bore all that remained of the loved one to the home of the dead, where the soft air of the springtime will kiss the sleeping flowers that will keep watch over her sacred dust. Farewell, dear friend, loving mother and sainted grandmother, a long farewell.

Obituary.
Departed this life, May 9th, 1883, Obeldiah Gordon. The father of the writer and subject of this sketch, was born near Richmond, Virginia, where his first marriage took place, with Mrs. Mary, at the age of 32 years. In a short time, his wife was called away by death. Second marriage was in Florida, near Tallahassee, to Miss Pendleton; again God, in his wisdom, caused him to be left alone by her death. His third and last marriage, occurred in Daviess county, Ky., to Miss Miller, sister of P. J. Miller, of Owensboro. Near eleven years ago, she was called from this to a better world. Deceased lived an active and energetic life up to 80 years. Had he lived four months and sixteen days longer, he would have attained the age of 88 years. For forty years, his occupation was carpentering. Some fifty years ago, when Owensboro was smaller than Beaver Dam now is, he did much of the carpentering in that place. At that time, he purchased a tract of land three miles east of Owensboro, where one Litch Gray now lives; price paid being $3 per acre, now worth $75 per acre. Not accustomed to farming, his work for years was in Owensboro. Land began to advance in price, when he sold out and bought a tract of land near Massillon (or near where Massillon now is; there was no Massillon there at that time). A small farm was cleared on the place where Dr. Haynes once lived; also a small farm where old uncle Kit Jackson now lives. The latter was a man with whom my father was often with, being fond of each other's society and nearly the same age. About twenty years ago, deceased came to Ohio county. For nearly fifty years, he has been a member of the Baptist church. The same power that kept tested his life, has called him home to meet loved ones gone before. May we, the survivors of the dead, be consoled by the thought that God's grace is sufficient for us.

Double Wedding.
Chimes of the wedding bells floated out from the residence of Logan Brown, Esq., May 17th, 1883, for the marriage of their daughter, Miss Altha D. Brown and Mr. A. L. Withrow, also their niece, Miss Emma C. Brown and Mr. N. B. Fulkerson.

Rev. J. S. McDaniel solemnized the holy rites, according to the impressive method of the M. E. church. May the chime that blends you in the sunny May, As years pass by, grow brighter still each day.

JUDGE LITTLE'S INSTRUCTIONS

Judge Little in his instruction to the Grand Jury next Monday will, among other things, impress upon them the importance of ferreting out all persons guilty of carrying concealed deadly weapons and buying all their goods at Anderson's Bazaar.

THE GREAT GERMAN REMEDY FOR PAIN
Saw Mill Property for Sale.
We will sell our saw mill located in Hartford, Ky., on the most reasonable terms. The property is comparatively new, having run only a little over five years, and is in perfect repair. The facilities for securing timber are unsurpassed, and the home demand is good and increasing. We also have a one-half interest in a portable saw mill which will be sold very cheap. It is a twenty-horse power and has never made but one set.

Our only reason for wishing to sell is the crippled condition of one partner and continued ill health of the other. The mills can be seen and any information had by calling on 153m POTTER & CONDUCT, Hartford.

I have made sufficient experiments of Chamberlain's Liquid Peppermint to enable me to say it is by far the best of all the preparations of the kind (food and tonic) that I have ever used. To the sufferer from chronic diseases, or the convalescent, it is invaluable, as it is both nourishing and strengthening. (Remember the name CHAMBERLAIN—take no other.) Of drug gists.
